EXTRA ANNOUNCEMENT.

Arrangements have been concluded for the appearance in this city of the distinguished artist ELITA PROCTOR OTIS at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday, eve., Dec. 8, in Ibsen's fascinating play HEDDA GABLER. Ibsen has become a fad with all classes of theatre-goers who will undoubtedly welcome this opportunity to see his greatest drama. Seat Sale will commence Saturday, Dec. 5.
Orders sent in advance will be filed at the box office. Although this is an unusual attraction there will be no advance in the regular seat prices which will range from 25 cents to $1.50. Free list entirely abolished.

LIVE STOCK, CROP, ETC.

—Charlton Alexander killed for home use, 12 hogs averaging 300 pounds, net.

—Mr. Jacoby bought 200 barrels of corn, delivered at Hutchison, for $2.50 per barrel.

—Hibler Brothers shipped last week to Cincinnati, 500 hogs and two car loads of cattle.

—Elmer Boardman bought of Claude
Weathers, 12 hogs averaging 250 pounds at $4 per hundred.

—At Hutchison, Barney Steele sold to John Steele, 300 shocks of fodder at 12½ cents per shock.

—Leer Bros., of Millersburg, bought 7,000 pounds of tobacco from Robert Barnes, at 7 cents.

—While the past Summer has been trying on the farmers generally, yet all farm products are bringing good prices,
as well as stock of all kinds.

—Dr. W. C. Ussery and Ben Woods
sold to E. E. Woods and Omer Lloyd, 700 shocks of corn in the field, at $2.25 per barrel, fodder thrown in; and 700
shocks to Penn & Steele, at same price.

—Farmers in the Hutchison neighborhood are killing an unusual amount of hogs, and say it will pay to put them in the smoke-house, as they are only selling for $4.25 per hundred, and were fed $3 per barrel corn.

—The highest price ever paid in this country for a single fowl," says the Indiana Farmer, was paid this season for a Buff Plymouth Rock cockerel.
He sold for $300 and four females to be mated with him sold for $300.

—Mr. J. B. Haggins, who recently leased 680 acres of grass land at Woodburn farm, in Woodford county, now has 213 head of horses pasturing there, including three of this stallions. It is probable that other tracts of Woodburn land will be leased to race horse breeders. The Alexander heirs propose having Woodburn farm continue as a stock farm and will preserve undisturbed its magnificent blue grass and woodland.

—The Brady Stock Yards Co., at Atlanta, Ga., reports the present condition of the market, which is now beginning to move forward, as not so brisk, but will improve from now on.
Prices obtained are about as follows:
14 1-2 to 14-3 from $115 to $150, owing to quality; 15 to 15-1 from $125 to $135, owing to quality; 15 1-2 to 15-3 from $140 to $165, owing to quality. Supply only fair, not over 800 mules in the yards, and horses scarce.

If your mules are ready for market and you wish to get on the market before the holidays, do not think that you would make a mistake to ship at once, as dealers are expecting a "spurt" in the market during the early part of the present month, and then there will be a decided lull until after the holidays.

Roosevelt's friends of the North are no more desirous of negro supremacy than are the South people. In Union republicans for coroner. That his color was his sole cause of defeat is shown in the fact that the rest of the ticket

What MITCHELL Says

Now, here is were I am going to brag a bit, but I am only going to tell you a few things you know already. Now about my HOME MADE CANDY. Excuse me if I say, that taken as a line, it cannot be excelled. It has certain fine points that you will find in no other candy.

This Candy Pudding I make is never crumbly, but is always smooth and creamy, and the peanut candy, well, I don't think I am wrong if I tell you, that I am the only person in this country who can make it. Others can make peanut, but not like I make.

My cream candy will melt in your mouth and the several

AMUSEMENTS.

It has been said that the "New Woman" is not new, since Shakespeare has given us a new woman in Portia. May we not add Rosalind. Miss Elizabeth Kennedy, one of our talented Southern actresses, will show us a new Rosalind. Last season we laughed or cried as her art awayed us, in her admirable portrayal of Madame Trentoni in Clyde Fitch's "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines," and her appearance as Rosalind in a complete production of "As You Like It" at the Grand Opera House, on Friday night, Dec. 4th, will doubtless bring society out in force.

As Miss Kennedy is a world famed actress, the members of the "As You Like It" Club should attend, as the performance will be the great event of the year.

Lovers of genuine drama who are tired of musical comedy inanities hail with pleasure the approaching visit to the Grand Opera House of Miss Elita Proctor Otis in Henrik Ibsen's master piece, "Hedda Gabler." The play is a powerful exposition of a beautiful and clever young woman's revolt against social conventions that cramp her life and destroy her individuality. This is the kind of part Miss Otis enters into with zest, and those who remember her stellar work in "Oliver Twist," "The Crust of Society," "The Sporting Duchess" and other plays, will make sure of seeing her as Hedda Gabler.

COLOR LORE.

The gale tint of the Turk is green. To the Chinese yellow betokens royalty. Constancy and steadfastness are signified by blue. Orange of the tint of the sunset is said to be the color of hope. In ancient times the Egyptians considered red a symbol of fidelity. White is taken as a symbol of purity, faith and chastity the world over. In its varying shades rose color is said to betoken the highest wisdom. Black and indigo signify sorrow, the mournful to the Persians; hence our mourning. Syrian purple, which is crimson with a shade of blue in it, is almost universally regarded as royal.

GREAT AND SILENT THINGS.

How silently the years, in long procession,
Come gliding down the corridors of Time
to us!
Oh! quietly they come and take possession
Of our dear youth, and weigh us with oppression.
How great they seem, and how sublime
to us!

How softly Love into the heart comes creeping—
How wonderfully low is her command at last!

She wakes the soul that erstwhile lay
a-sleeping,
She dries the eyes that were but lately
weeping,
Revealing all her Promised Land at last.

And Death! Oh! with a velvet tread she finds us,
And teaches us her awful lore and mystery.

Like sheaves of wheat are we what time
she binds us,
And in a little sheet of whiteness winds
us—

And this is all of our poor history.

Oh! we who loudly cry our names in chorus
Across the mighty years, shall sooner,
later,
Go humbly back upon the tide that bore us
To this brief life, as men have gone before us.

Softly to God, silent to our Creator!
—Charles Hanson Towne, in S. S. Times.

Love or Duty?

By HARRY WHITTIER FREES

HE sat at his desk, staring at the unchangeable evidence before him of another's crime. It involved the honor of a trusted man and the lifelong happiness of a loyal and loving woman.

At the close of that day's business the accountant had handed him the annual statement of the bank's affairs.
It told of many things—the bank's prosperity, its financial footing, and ended with the grim awakening to confidence misplaced. The cashier's account showed a shortage of ten thousand dollars.

The face of the man at the desk gleamed gray and haggard in the lamplight. As president of the institution he was bound to protect his interests.
Policy alone demanded this man's conviction and his punishment to the limit of the law.

Such was duty.
But back of it all shone the faith and happiness of a woman—the default of the wife. That spoken word duty demanded as its God-given right would condemn her to a lifelong heritage.

His mind reverted back to those never-to-be-forgotten days when he had wooed this very woman—and had lost.
Tearfully and tenderly, with true womanly compassion, she had told him of another. With hope deadened to despair he had accepted and respected her decision, but God pity him! that love

"SHE SORRY I CALLED YOU NAUGHTY," SHE WHISPERED.

Lived on—undimmed, eternal. The intervening years had only added to his loneliness.

Such was love.

And now his must be the decision.
There could be no evasion. A man's infamy and its punishment; a woman's happiness and its protection.

Love or duty?

The watchman entering the room aroused him.

"A lady at the door wishes to see you," announced the man, hesitatingly.

"You told her that the rules forbade admittance after banking hours?" he asked, visibly annoyed.

"Yes; but she insisted, and seemed sure that you would see her. She gave me this."

He accepted the card mechanically.
A woman soliciting charity, no doubt.
The glance of indifference changed to closest scrutiny and recognition.

God—his wife!

A moment later she stood timidly in the doorway, holding a child by the hand.

"You must pardon my intrusion at this time," she began, appealingly—and he caught the note of sadness in her voice—"but I wished to see you alone."

He bade her enter and be seated. At sight of her, half-forgotten memories flooded thick and fast. The dormant blood of younger years leaped to his heart with a sickening whirl. He noted the calm, sweet face; a little older, perhaps, but still the same. The child at her side told of a new happiness—the legacy of motherhood.

"I have come to see you about my husband," she confessed, reluctantly.
"He has changed so greatly in the past few months, that I thought perhaps it might be his work; that you would understand."

The man was silent, but the look of sympathy in his eyes encouraged her.
Her voice trembled as she continued:
"He seems to have something on his mind over which he broods. Often when I speak to him he does not hear me. Then, again, he will look at me in a way that makes my heart ache. Only a few days ago I found him with our little Dorothy in his arms, and the tears were rolling down his cheeks. He is always so loving and kind, I can't understand—I—I—"

She was sobbing, and the man at the desk felt something rise in his own throat that choked him.

The child drew closer to its mother.
"Don't cry, mamma—dear mamma."

Suddenly the little figure straightened up with firm resolve, and dared swiftly across the room, and the
at the desk became conscious of little one at his knee.

"You're awful naughty to make me
dear mamma cry," she lisped, chokingly, struggling bravely to keep back the tears. "I don't like you."

"Come, Dorothy," called the mother, gently, "you must not speak like that.
You don't mind baby, do you?" she added, appealingly.

The man smiled sadly. "Mind her?
I'd as soon rebuke an angel."

For awhile he sat silent. He was thinking how simple a matter it would be to tell her all—how her husband's conscience lashed him to remorse. How simple, yet how despicable.

"I shall give the matter my attention," he said instead. "Perhaps your husband is working too hard. His duties as first cashier are especially onerous. No doubt he needs a rest. I shall speak to him about taking a few weeks' vacation, and can almost promise you that he will soon be his old self again."

She smiled her gratitude, relieved and happy at his assurance. Suddenly her face grew grave.

"My husband tells me frequently how kind and considerate you have been to him. Sometimes I can scarcely fathom the nobility that prompts it, for you could almost claim the right to be otherwise—God knows you could!"

"Nan!" The old pet name of other days swept impulsively from his lips as he crossed the room. "I would do anything to make you happy," he said, almost fiercely.

She looked up at him imploringly.
"Don't—please don't. I have no right to listen."

He bowed his head resignedly before her rebuke. "Forgive me. I had less right to speak," he said.

She walked slowly away, and turning in the doorway, said, simply: "I shall never forget your kindness. Goodnight."

The child hesitated as the mother left the room, and a moment later the man at the desk felt a little hand steal softly into his.

"It's sorry I called you naughty," came the penitent whisper, "'cause—
'cause mamma likes you. I likes you, too. You may kiss me."

For one brief moment he caught the child to his heart, and all the long-ingness of his life was touched. He felt the little arms clasp his neck in confidence and love, and the touch of baby lips.

"God bless you, baby!" he murmured,
brokenly.

The mother's voice calling the child sounded softly from the outer room.

His head drooped lower over the desk until it rested on his arm. All the bitterness of his soul welled to his lips. "Oh, God, what hast Thou denied me!"

Through all the long hours of the night he did not move. Visions of "what might have been" came and went. The watchman looked into the room, and thinking that the bowed figure slept, moved silently away.

When the first gleam of dawn struggled in at the window the man raised his head. Opening a drawer of his desk he took out a tiny locket. The fair face of a woman smiled up at him from its rim of gold. For a long time he sat in silent contemplation of the image, then with all the reverence of his manhood he touched it with his lips.

Love or duty?

Love.

That same day the first cashier was called to the office of the president.

When he went back to his duties an hour later there was a strange new buoyancy in his manner.

Before the close of the day's business the president had transferred ten thousand dollars from his personal account to the bank's funds.

She never knew—Farm and Fireside.

At His Own Words.

Not long ago the punishment for libel in Russia was the requirement that the libeler literally eat his own words. A man who published a small volume reflecting on the unlimited power of the sovereign was seized, tried in a summary way and condemned to consume the objectionable words. In one of the public streets the book was severed from its binding, the margins cut off, the leaves rolled up one by one and fed to the unfortunate author. A surgeon was in attendance to pronounce upon the number possible to give without endangering his life, but he is reported to have set the limit at something like 200.—N. Y.

PIANO SALE!

Never before has there been such enthusiastic interest displayed on the part of a buying public, than has been shown, not only by the eagerness of prospective purchasers, but by the extraordinary satisfaction of those who have bought during these money-saving sales.

THE
Smith & Nixon
Piano Co.

Own and operate one of the largest manufacturing plants in Cincinnati.

We want our Pianos better known here, so we have adopted what we believe to be the most up-to-date method of opening up new territory, selling a limited number of selected Pianos direct from the factory to consumers at factory cost and less.

We invite you to call early and investigate this sale.
Bring your musical friend with you. Examine your neighbor's Piano, ask them
the price they paid, and then come and examine our Pianos and get price. You will Save $75 to $100

by cutting out the agent's profit. You will have to act quickly, as we are only here for a few days.

CHOLERA CURE
~FOR HOGS AND POULTRY~

Farmers, you need no longer fear to raise and feed Hogs. e not only claim to cure Cholera, but we guarantee to prevent any su h disease from breaking out among your Hogs or Poultry, if our re iedy is used as directed. It is also fine for Brood Sows before r-rowing, being a good blood medicine, which places them in a heal y condition. You cannot afford to be without this remedy if you exp-t to raise and feed Hogs, as you will more than make the price of e medicine in the extra gain in your hogs, and then you can st assured they will have no disease. If they do we will refund e money. Write for testimonials

DRESSED FOWLS.—Place your order now for all kinds of dressed fowls so you can get what you want.

DAVIS & FARIS.

EX-PARISIANS LOCATE.—The Lexington Leader says: Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Long, of Paris, Ky., have come to Lexington to make their home and are now keeping house on West High street. She is Mrs. Princess Long, whose singing in the series of meetings at Broadway and Central Christian churches in the last few weeks has been a very attractive part of the services. A little sketch of Mrs. Long is interesting to the many admirers of her voice. Before her marriage she was Miss Princess L. Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Clark, of Van Wert, Ohio. She was educated in Fort Wayne, Indiana, studied music in Chicago and Cleveland, Ohio, and has been teaching her art for several years, having charge of the Department of Music in the Normal College of Angola, Indiana. She has also sung in concert work in many of the States and was soloist in the Paris Christian church for a number of years. She and Mr. Long were married in 1887. He has been an invalid for some time, but expects to go into business in this city.

To Seek Their Fortune.

The Cynthia Democrat says:—John Hardesty and Boone Willmott, of near Muir, Bourbon county, left on Tuesday for South Africa, where they will be superintendent and assistant in the gold mines in Alaska, and were engaged by a New York millionaire who had mines in Africa. He sent money to pay expenses for the entire trip, and they will get a salary of $5,000 a year each. On Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Frank Willmott, gave a six o'clock dinner to three young gentlemen and a number of their friends, which was an elegant affair and largely attended by their numerous friends who clustered around them and extended their best wishes for their safe voyage to their home in a foreign clime.

$2.00 WHISKY.—Best $2.00 whisky in town at

FRANK SALOSHIN.

SEE J. T. HINTON'S display advertisement for Christmas presents.

LOST.—A child's Fur Muff. Finder will please leave at this office and receive reward.

DEATH OF DR. W. C. ROBERTS.—Dr. W. C. Roberts, President of Centre College of Central University, died at his home in Danville, Friday last. He was a theological student and educator of National reputation. His remains were taken to New Jersey for burial.

NO NEED FOR SOAP.—A soap manufacturer was once asked why he did not use soap in his business, and he said that in his experience he had found that the man who does not read the newspapers never uses soap.

THE BEST.—A letter came to the Paris post-office, yesterday, addressed to the "Best Newspaper in Paris, Ky." and the letter was placed in the BOURBON NEWS box. If you see it in THE NEWS, its so.

STATE FAIR.—A plan is on foot by the people of Lexington to make the state fair a permanent institution at that place. They offer to give 60 acres of ground if the State will support the project.

NEW DEPOT.—It is stated that the Interurban people are negotiating with several parties looking towards the purchase of property on High street, for the purpose of furnishing its patrons with a depot.

FOUND DEAD.—Thomas Stewart, a well-known sign painter of Lexington, was found dead in the Palace Hotel, in that city, Saturday morning. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that he came to his death from cause unknown, but not of a suspicious nature.

MUST MAKE REPORT.—The law requires every practicing physician to make a report annually of all births and deaths occurring in connection with his practice and imposes a heavy fine for refusal or neglect to do so. These reports must be made to the County Clerk by January 10th.

"NATIVE PURITY" Maple Syrup is made from the pure maple sap. It is delicious. Ask your grocer for it.

THE POWER GROC. CO., Distributors.

ENTERTAINED.—Mr. John B. Kennedy entertained a number of his friends at dinner on Thanksgiving day. Among those present were: Rev. Dr. Rutherford, Messrs. Wm. Tarr, John C. Clay, W. H. Renick, Catesby Woodford, W. B. Allen, Wm. Ardery, Matt Kenney and Geo. W. Davis.

RUSHING BUSINESS.—Although I have waited on my customers satisfactorily I have been rushed and could not do justice to them. I am now better prepared to give better service than ever I want the continued patronage of all my old customers and will be glad to see new ones. Fresh oysters, home-killed meats, etc., always on hand.

H. MARGOLEN.

BE CAREFUL.—Hunters should bear in mind the fact that it is unlawful to hunt on the premises of another person, without first obtaining permission to do so. Don't get the old idea in your head that you are at liberty to hunt where you please unless forbidden by the owner of the premises, or unless the land is openly posted. That don't go now.

BIRTHS.

—To Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Kelly, Jr., in Salt Lake City, Utah, a daughter, Mr. Kelley formerly resided in this city.

DEATHS.

—Mrs. Julia Renick, wife of Hon. Abe Renick, died at her home in Clark county, Friday, of consumption, aged 35 years, after a short illness. She was formerly Miss Julia Fry, of Plattsburg, Mo. She leaves, besides her husband, a son and two daughters.

TURKEYS WANTED.—Chas. S. Brent & Bro., of Paris, are offering the highest market price for fat turkeys delivered at their places of business at Paris and Millersburg. Phones 14. 10-11

J. T. HINTON sells the best make of foot-warmers.

CUPID'S ARROW.

—Dan Daly, who for fifteen years has been the efficient watchman at the railway crossing on the Winchester pike, near the L. & N. passenger depot, was married to Mrs. Cangle, of Covington, in that city, last Thursday.

—Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Lavina Smith, daughter of Mrs. Polly Smith, to R. E. Letton, at the home of the bride, near Jacktown, on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 21st, at 3 o'clock.

—The marriage of Miss Bessie Redmon and Mr. A. O. Glenn, of Chattanooga, Tenn., took place on Tuesday, the 24th, at 3 o'clock, the ceremony being performed by Elder Carey Morgan. They were the recipients of many handsome and costly presents. The bridal pair left for a trip to New York, Washington and other Eastern cities.

PERSONAL MENTION

—Clell. Turney visited Mt. Sterling friends last week.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ford Brent have returned from Boston.

—Mrs. Louis Hooge has returned from a visit to friends in Boston.

—Mr. James Hinton, of Cincinnati, is visiting his father, in this county.

—Capt. James M. Thomas is expected home from the hospital at Cincinnati, Thursday.

—Mrs. Dr. E. H. Rutherford will arrive home from a visit to Holly Springs, Miss., next Friday.

—The many friends of Major Henry Turney will be glad to learn that he is able to be out again.

—Miss Ella Mitchell returned home, yesterday from an extended visit to friends in Lexington and Winchester.

—Miss Lillian Jefferson has returned to her home in Lexington, after a pleasant visit to Miss Calla Thomas in this city.

—The Progressive Culture Club will hold a meeting with Mrs. John T. Hinton, on Wednesday, at 2:30 o'clock.

—The M. L. Olivet Advance says: "Squire Lucas and Chas. Doyle, of near Paris, were here last week visiting at the home of Jerome Day."

—Miss Sophia Innes will entertain at cards on Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, in honor of her charming guest, Miss Mabel King, of Shelbyville.

—Messrs. Woodford Clay, of this county, and Robt. Holloway, of Lexington, left yesterday for Florida for a very extensive hunting trip. They will be gone several weeks.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Shipp, of near this city, and Quincy Ward, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sellers, of Lexington, spent Sunday with Charles B. James, in this city.

—Misses Birdie Burke, of Illinois, Sallie Patterson, of Jamestown, Ky., Theo. Hemphill, of Lancaster, Teresa Becraft, of Millersburg, and Carrie Stone, of North Middletown, were the pleasant guests over Thanksgiving with the Misses Sade, May and Ollie Ashbrook. They returned to school at Hamilton College, Lexington, on Sunday.

—Dr. J. S. Wallingford has returned from a visit in Colorado, where he has been to recuperate his health, but since returning home has found it necessary to undergo an operation for appendicitis, and is now at Dr. B. Merrill Rickett's hospital, in Cincinnati, for the operation. Dr. Wallingford is one of our most popular and successful physicians and has many friends here who wish for his speedy recovery to health, which it is hoped will be in the near future.

—Mrs. James M. Thomas remains quite sick at her home in this city.

—Miss Sophia Innes will entertain in honor of her guest, at Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hedges, on Wednesday night.

—Mrs. F. L. McChesney has been the guest of friends in Franklin county.

—The Cynthia Democrat, of Saturday, says: Messrs J. A. Stewart and Frank Webb was installed as Captain General by the Knights Templar.

PURCHASED.—Mrs. Sallie B. White has purchased from Mrs. Porter Jett, her residence in East Paris, for $2,900. Possession will be given March 1st.

AT COST FOR CASH.—Commencing Tuesday, December 1, I will close out my entire stock of groceries at cost. No sales will be made hereafter on credit. I am selling everything at and below cost, and your money will buy more here than elsewhere. Remember I am closing out my grocery stock to quit business; this is no fake sale.

Flour, $2.40 per hundred; 3 bars Lenox Soap, 10c; 3 boxes Pearlina, 10c; 3 boxes Starch, 10c; 3 cans Salmon, 25c; 3 lbs. BIG SHIPMENT.—Brent & Bro., have shipped from Paris, Millersburg, Carlisle and Flemingsburg, about 9,000 turkeys, from each place, or about 36,000 in all. The turkeys averaged about 12½ pounds on foot and were purchased at from 10 to 13 cents per pound on foot. Some of the fowls weighed from 30 to 32 pounds dressed. They will continue to handle turkeys 'till Christmas.

WAVE OF REFORM.—Frankfort is in the midst of a reform wave and theatre going and dancing are barred. The cause of this is brought about through a great revival meeting that has been held there. As a result of the revival the dances and the theatre have suffered. At the German given at the Capital Hotel on Thanksgiving night, there was not a corporal's guard present. "Peck and His Mother-in-Law" failed to give a performance, for want of a crowd.

HAS AN AVIARY OF HER OWN.—There is a great similarity in names in this city and community. There are the Feebacks, Utterbacks, Hornbacks, Lowderbacks, and Fishbacks. Last Sunday in the Christian Church they had a wedding. A Miss Martin first married a Crow. Crow died and she married a Robbin. She parted from Robbin, and last Sunday Mrs. Robbin married Dave Buzzard. She has one Martin, two Crows, a Robbin and a Buzzard in her home.—Cynthia Democrat.

TAUGHT BY EXPERIENCE.

As Long as Farmers Can't Control the Market It Pays to Cater to Popular Taste.

The merchant lays in such stock as he knows his customers will buy. The grocer makes his stock as attractive as possible, and he knows what class of customers he may expect when he locates in any particular locality. In fact, I do not know of any other class of people who offer goods on the market without knowing what the market is, except the farmer, or more strictly speaking, the farmer's wife. I have just been having a little experience, and you know it is experience that teaches.

A friend up in New England spent all her spare time last summer raising geese, and a big, fine flock she had when it came time to market them. We were all there when killing day came. The geese were killed in the old way, by cutting off the heads. They were then brought in, dipped into a boiler of hot water, then rolled in a piece of carpeting to steam, and by the time they were cool we picked. This process makes picking very easy, and does not injure the skin. These people pick feathers and down all into one basket, and offer it at the price of feathers.

I had bought down pillows in the cities, and of course recognized the value of the down; so we instituted a second picking. The feathers can be taken off first and put in a basket by themselves, then the down picked separately. It is really the easier way to do the picking. The down thus saved sells at a much higher price than the selling price of feathers. These geese were all dipped in a thin solution of starch water, which gives the skin a very nice appearance, and were then shipped to one of our large cities. But here is the point. In that particular market customers prefer fowls with the heads on. And here was a boxful, over 300 pounds, all dressed alike, all dressed as the market does not want them dressed, and shipped at—well, at "any old time," just when it happened to be convenient to kill them.

These people, after putting a whole summer's work into goose raising, did not take a paper in which they could read market quotations; did not look for a market quotation to know where to ship their geese, and did not stop to inquire how best to prepare their shipment for the market. What would become of a commission merchant if he were to do business so regardless of the market? He would have to give up business in short order. And I hate to see the farmer or his wife lose the full benefit of a year's work in this way. Farmers do not watch the "market reports" page of their paper closely enough.—Maude Meredith, in Country Gentleman.

STRONG PLANK DRAG.

This Implement Does Effective Work in Leveling and Putting the Ground in Order.

The drag consists of four four by four scantlings fastened together with rods, with small blocks two inches thick between scantling, with rings on the ends of the rods, hitched to by means of rods and ring or a chain and ring. The drag is for the purpose of lifting the drag to free it from rubbish or stone. This drag carries fine dirt along between the scantlings, which fills up all low places and levels the ground. A drag of this description, eight feet long, is a good load for a team of horses, without a harrow attached behind. If more weight is wanted the man can ride the drag. It does effective work in leveling and putting the ground in order.—Ohio Farmer.

POWERFUL PLANK DRAG.

Fat Mutton for Export.

An exchange reports Mr. J. E. Wing, of Ohio, as of the opinion that fat mutton will be in demand for export. "Sheep and lamb feeding is a good game to stick to, provided the feeder raises his own feed. We raise lots of alfalfa and feed in conjunction with ear corn. Never shell the corn. At least that is our experience, and it has been a profitable one. The thin lambs are the ones to buy. The feeder gets the growth with them and will make money by not finishing them too much. Send them to market on the light side, if anything, is my policy. When buying feeding lambs, be sure to pick those with open, loose fleeces. They do better in the feed lot than close-fleeced stock."

The Destruction of Weeds.

With the approach of spring the perennial problem of destroying weeds on walks, drives, tennis courts and similar places presents itself. About the best method that has been devised is to kill them with some effective solution having either an arsenic, sulphuric acid, carbolic acid or sal-soda base. Any one of these is effective, though the arsenic mixtures, some of which are offered as commercial proprietary solutions, are the most persistent in their effects. For killing weeds in lawns, where it is desired to grow useful plants as promptly as possible after the treatment, crude carbolic acid is said to be most desirable, as it does not permanently poison the soil.

MAINE'S POTATO FARMERS.

Presque Isle Remarkable for Its Yield of Tubers—Clover the Alternate Crop Raised.

The regulation farm lot in Maine is 160 acres, but the ease with which large areas of smooth land can be cultivated by means of modern, improved machinery tends to a habit of expansion, says the National Magazine. Within reasonable limits, the bigger the farm the more economically and profitably it can be operated. Hence we find in Presque Isle the average acreage approximating 200, and a large percentage of farms ranging from this figure to 400 and even 500 acres. Potatoes, Aroostook's staple, are found here in fields ranging from 20 to 100 acres, often yielding over 100 barrels to the acre, and since he has caught on to the knack of rotating clover with potatoes, the Presque Isle farmer is able to alternate great fields between hay and potatoes, so as to raise and sell an immense volume of both staples, and at the same time actually to increase the strength and fertility of his farm. For the past three years it is a very unpretentious Presque Isle farm that has not yielding profits totaling $3,000, while many have run as high as $10,000 and $12,000. Making all due allowance for operating expenses, there is a margin left that has made these farms a veritable gold mine; and it is no wonder that, after providing himself and family with ample comforts, and such luxuries as are indicated by pianos, elegant furniture, rubber-tired carriages, fine driving horses, etc., these farmers still have good, fat bank accounts to their credit.

TWO MILES A MINUTE.

Several American Railroads Have Made That Remarkable Record—Mental Strain on Engineers.

The fact that a speed of 106.8 miles an hour has been reached on the Zossen experimental road in Germany is interesting, but the engineers in charge are in error if they think that this is the highest speed ever attained, says the New York World. More than 20 years ago a steam engine and car, attached, both of light construction, were driven at over 100 miles on hour on a single rail "saddle-back" road built by Capt. J. V. Meigs at Boston. Ten years ago the Empire State express ran a mile at the rate of 112.5 miles an hour. Two years ago a train on the Plant system in Florida ran five miles in two minutes and 30 seconds, equivalent to 120 miles an hour.

Some experts think that while there is no mechanical difficulty in the way of running trains at the rate of 100 miles an hour or more, no engineer will be able to stand the strain of such a speed without a nervous breakdown. But with a thoroughly protected track, free from grade crossings, with nothing to disturb the mind, and with vibrations reduced to a minimum, it may be found that a train can be run at two miles a minute with less mental tension than is caused by half that speed to-day—when a speck on the track a mile away may develop within 60 seconds into a wagonload of people.

IN TORNADO FORMATION.

Hawks Rotated in Funnel Shape to Protect Weak Members—Perhaps Caught in Storm.

A curious spectacle was witnessed here one afternoon recently, according to a St. John (N. B.) dispatch to the New York Sun. Promenaders in the park heard shrieking overhead, and, looking up, found a great funnel shaped cloud of hawks overshadowing them. There were several hundred of the birds, and all were sailing around some imaginary center in circling layers one above the other. The lowest stratum was only about 150 feet from the ground, the topmost as far away as the eye could reach.

Independently of their centrifugal motion, the birds were going evidently by force of the wind, in a northeasterly direction, which promised soon to take them out over the Atlantic. They appeared to be moving by some concerted agreement, sweeping about with the greatest ease, occasionally giving utterance to the only cry of which they are capable. One surmise of the curious formation was that a flock of migrating hawks had found itself in the heart of a storm, and had been rolled up by the wind, which rotated in the form of a tornado; or possibly it was for the protection of the weaker members of the flock that they elected to travel to another country in this curious fashion.

Automobile Dust Trials.

One of the features of the reliability trials by the London Automobile club at the Crystal Palace was a dust "trial." At three points in the banked-up circular cycle track half the roadway was covered with an inch layer of flourmill sweepings. One automobile acted as pilot to the competing car, in order that the speed, which was approximately 30 miles an hour, might be gauged, and as the competing car flew through the flour two cameras recorded the cloud of "dust." The lesson taught by the dust trials was that the lower and more cumbersome the gear and boxes under the body of the car the greater is the dust raised.

Palace Cars.

Palace and sleeping cars go back only to the close of the civil war, the air-brake to 1863, and vestibuled trains to 1886.

NEW WAY TO CUT TREES.

Electrically Heated Platinum Wire Does Work of Saw in Much Less Time.

It is reported in the German press that successful experiments have been made in various forests of France in cutting trees by means of electricity. A platinum wire is heated to a white heat by an electric current and used like a saw. In this manner the tree is felled much easier and quicker than in the old way; no sawdust is produced, and the slight carbonization caused by the hot wire acts as a preservative of the wood. The new method is said to require only one-eighth of the time consumed by the old sawing process.

Some day, says the New York Tribune, this system will doubtless find a trial in the United States. Of course, it is necessary to provide a source of electricity, and unless the latter is cheap the operation just described would not be economical. However, nearly all districts in which timber is cut are provided with streams, and these can often be utilized for power. Only a small head would be necessary for this purpose. America has been so enterprising in the application of electricity to industry that it is wonderful that another country should have had a chance to anticipate it in any manner. The consular report, in which the news is conveyed, supplies no details, however, and it is impossible to say how extensively the plan has been adopted.

A WONDER OF ELECTRICITY.

Wet Commuter Finds a New Use for Incandescent Bulbs and Is Made Happy.

"I was caught in the deluge the other day, and in spite of raincoat and umbrella arrived at my office thoroughly soaked from my knees down," said a sad-eyed suburbanite who was recounting the joys of country life, to the New York Sun reporter. "I knew that to sit at my desk all day with wet feet and legs meant a severe cold or worse, and I was in a wretched state."

"I sat with the cold, wet things making me more and more miserable, when suddenly I had an idea. In my office are a number of swinging incandescent lights suspended by the wires only. Loosening the surplus wire to give the lights more play and removing the light shades, I turned on the current and, resting my legs on a chair, pushed a light up each leg of my trousers to a point between the knee and ankle."

"The heat from the lights was just the right quantity, and in about half a minute my legs began to feel a warm glow that was delightful, and the steam rose in miniature clouds."

"In half an hour both legs of my trousers were thoroughly dry. Then I pulled my wet socks over the bulbs, and they were dry in no time. The job was finished by putting the lights in my shoes, and I had dry shoes in a little over an hour."

HOUSEKEEPING SYNDICATE.

Thirteen Families in New York State Try Cooperative Boarding to Solve Servant Problem.

In the enterprising town of Holly, Orleans county, N. Y., a new movement has been started, with the object of solving the servant girl problem, says the Buffalo Commercial.

Thirteen families, comprising 29 persons of the best social and business standing, have formed a cooperative boarding association, all members to bear an equal share of the expenses.

Gradually the various objections were overcome, and the members are not only well satisfied with the progress made, but think that in a short time a noticeable decrease in their living expenses will be evident.

Upon joining the association, members contributed $5 to create a fund with which to equip the kitchen. With this money two ranges and dishes of every description have been purchased; also other articles necessary to the culinary department. In the dining-room each family furnishes the table linen, dishes and other articles for its own use.

All expenses for provisions and the services of the cooks and waitresses are then borne pro rata by the members. There will be considerable curiosity to know whether the experiment can be made a permanent success.

"Corn" in Different Countries.

In the United States when one speaks of "corn" maize is always meant. In England "corn" is applied to all cereals, especially wheat. In Scotland "corn" means oats. Germans use the word in the same sense as the English. Carlyle, being a Scotchman, in writing of Frederick the Great allows himself to refer, frequently to Frederick's "meal carts," when, strictly speaking, he should have said "grain carts." What the bread of Frederick's soldiers was made of was wheat and rye, not "corn" in the restricted Scotch sense. In Scotland a "corn field" is only a field of oats. Jamieson remarks that the term "corn" in northern Europe is used to denote that species of the grain most in use in any particular region. Hence in Sweden and Iceland the term denotes barley.

Old Times Recalled.

Janesville authorities have officially decided that young people may make love on the schoolhouse steps. Perhaps the older men too back and consider that branch the most delightful part of their education.

Wanted.

We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper, if there is any person who has used Green's August Flower, for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Liver Trouble that has not been cured—and we also mean their results, such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual constipation, nervous dyspepsia, headaches, dependent feelings, sleeplessness—in fact any trouble connected with the stomach or liver? This medicine has been sold for many years in all civilized countries, and we wish to correspond with you and send you one of our books free of cost. If you never tried August Flower, try a 25 cent bottle first. We have never known of its failing. If so, something more serious is the matter with you. The 25 cent size has just been introduced this year. Regular size 75 cents. W. T. Brooks.

Caution!

This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase the only remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1863 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity at these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Brooker's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup—and especially for Consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. The 50 cent size has just been introduced this year. Regular size 75 cents.—W. T. Brooks.

LOST.—Boy's blue overcoat on Lees burg or Paris pike. Any information will be thankfully received. SHERMAN STIVERS.

BRIDES FOR SOUTH AFRICANS.

Every Outgoing English Steamer Bound for Cape Town Has a Number of Prospective Wives.

Hardly a mail steamer leaves England for Cape Town without bearing on board an English bride for a sweetheart who has gone before to provide a home in that land of promise, says a London dispatch.

Not infrequently the list of passengers includes three or four brides, who ingeniously confide their secret to each other with the result that the vessel is seldom many days at sea before the bride becomes known all over the ship. Sailors consider it lucky to have brides on board.

The bridegrooms meet them at the landing place, and forthwith they repair to a public office to be married by special license, while genial Jack Tars crowd the gangway and throw rice among the bride's hair.

These marriages are mostly happy sequels to the conclusion of the war, many Yeoman having decided to settle in South Africa and bring thither the girls they had left behind them.

But there have been exceptions. Filtrations on board—no place equals a ship's deck for that pastime—have brought bitter disappointment to waiting bridegrooms. Sometimes girls get engaged on the voyage to fellow passengers or members of the crew, and arrive at the Cape "off with the old love and on with the new."

It has also been recently observed that young girls are going to South Africa from England in increasing numbers as domestic servants in the smaller up-country towns. If they have not calculated upon the chances of matrimony, they are not long in their new home before offers come along for their selection.

A SCIENTIST'S BELIEF.

Hindu Investigator Maintains That Metals Have Life as Well as Animals and Vegetables.

"A remarkable discovery," A. Sarath Kumar Ghosh asserts in Pearson's, in his article on Life in Metals, "that has recently been made will mark a new era in the progress of science, for it sweeps away many a pet theory we have hitherto fondly cherished. From time immemorial scientists have vainly asked: 'What is the quintessence of life? What is the fundamental difference between that which is living and that which is not? By what final test shall we determine that a certain object is animate and another inanimate?'"

"A suggestion is now made, which, to say the least of it, is astounding and revolutionary. In a book recently published a distinguished Hindu scientist—Jagadis Chunder Bose, professor of science in the Calcutta University—maintains that the true test of life in an object is its capacity to respond to external stimulus; in other words, its irritability, its sensitiveness. And according to this test he proves conclusively that no essential difference exists between animals and metals; in fine, that a bar of iron is as irritable and sensitive as the human body! More than that; he proves that a bar of metal can be killed—that is, deprived of its sensitiveness forever—just as the human body can be killed. He even shows how our present mistake has arisen; we have called objects non-living that are merely dead—that is, which once were sensitive but are no longer."

Dog Dies of Broken Heart.

A few weeks ago Elliott Henry, the 14-year-old son of Chris Henry, of Pillar Rock, Ore., was accidentally shot and killed, and with him at the time was his collie dog. His dog began to act queerly immediately after the boy's death, and followed the funeral to the grave, and he would not leave it after it had been covered up, remaining till he died.

Experiments in Hydrophobia Cure. The German government is about to establish an institute on the lines of the Pasteur institute of Paris, its object being to manufacture different sera at so cheap a rate as to be within anyone's means.

MARVELS OF FRUIT BREEDING.

How Orchard and Garden Hybrids Are Created—Work That Requires Plenty of Patience.

"The method of crossing two fruits," as described by Mr. Marcus Woodward in Pearson's, "is simplicity itself. The horticulturist merely takes the pollen from the flower of one specimen and dusts it into the stigma of the flower of another specimen. The result is a hybrid, for better or for worse."

"Of course the experiment is not made quite at haphazard without a certain knowledge of Nature's mysterious ways and laws of production. There is a story of a man who thought he would produce some marvelous new fruit or flower, he dared not think which, by collecting the pollen of his garden flowers, and dusting it upon the flowers of his apple tree! But there is a limit even to fruit-breeding. Five years—possibly ten years—must pass before there can be any certainty. Then one spring, at last the seedlings themselves bear fruit."

"The fruit slowly ripens, and is brought to judgment. There is an exciting moment when it is tasted. Many points are taken into consideration. Is the flavor good? Is the fruit a good color? Does the flesh separate freely from the stone? Is it as juicy as it should be?"

"A great work of selection now begins. Only the finest are allowed to survive."

WEARING OF THE MONOCLE.

Little Worn in America, But Considered Quite the Thing Among the English Swells.

The single eyeglass, or monocle, is worn by only two Philadelphians, says the Philadelphia Record. A half-dozen New Yorkers wear it, and, even in Chicago, it has a couple of votaries. An oculist talked about it the other day:

"Dr. Kitchener, back in 1824, thought it a good thing," he said. "Kitchener advised its alternate use, now in the right eye, now in the left one. He said in his book that he had cultivated the habit of picking up the glass, each time he wanted to use it, with a different hand. Of course, picked-up with the right hand, it had to go into the right eye, and vice versa."

"As a matter of fact, the single eyeglass is injurious. It throws all the work on one eye. It destroys the harmony of the optic muscles and nerves. I know an Englishman who has worn, for a myopic affection, a monocle in his left eye for 12 years. The left eye is all right, but with the other the man can see practically nothing."

"Joseph Chamberlain wears his monocle in either eye alternately, and his son does the same thing. The habit of the monocle continues to live among the English swells."

PLUMBER CAT.

Ingenious Device by Which Woman Sets a Felina to Discover Leak in a Pipe.

Making her cat act as her plumber was the ingenious feat that a woman of Manayunk accomplished the other day, says the Philadelphia Record. This woman had noticed that one of the pipes connected with the washstand in her bathroom leaked, and she wished to locate the leak precisely, without tearing out any more of her wall than was needful. Accordingly, she shut her cat up in the parlor—the parlor is directly below the bathroom—and into the basin of the defective washstand she poured a vial of the oil of valerian. Cats are excessively fond of the odor of valerian; a cat would rather inhale this odor than eat fish. The Manayunk woman's cat, after it had been in the parlor a few minutes, began to purr. Purring, it crossed the room; it settled itself on the floor with its face to one spot on the wall, and here its mistress found it when she came downstairs, its nose glued to the spot, sniffing and purring ecstatically. The wall was opened at this point, and here, sure enough, the leak was found. Here the valerian had trickled through, imparting its intoxicating odor to the cat.

INTEREST IN COTTON GROWING

Prominent British Merchant Says America Will Soon Want for Home Use All Raised There.

Interest has been renewed in the cotton growing experiments being conducted in West Africa, through an interview given by Sir Alfred Jones, a prominent Liverpool, England, merchant, who has been studying the production of cotton for three years. He declares that the United States will soon want for home uses all the cotton grown there.

"About ten years ago," he said, "America produced about 7,000,000 bales of cotton and Great Britain took half of it. Now America produces 11,000,000 bales and Britain takes no more than she did ten years ago. Then the British Cotton Growing association was started, and the results of the association's work have been more satisfactory than I anticipated. The whole of the West African colonies and the West Indies have been made to take a deep interest in the question of raising cotton and are working exceedingly well. America may yet have to look to West Africa for her cotton supply, because I believe cotton will be produced more cheaply in West Africa than in the United States."

An Explanation.

According to one of the scientific journals more than 8,000,000 of the 13,500,000 people of Mexico do not work, says the Chicago Record-Herald. No wonder some of the Mexicans are opposed to having Yankee ideas introduced into that country.

CHURCH TOPICS.

Fully 86 per cent. of the Presbyterian ministers of the United States receive less than $2,000 a year, as shown by the statistics of the clerk of the general assembly.

Miss Edna Hall, a talented woman of Guthrie, Okla., and until recently a resident of Richmond, Ind., has entered the Quaker ministry, and has accepted a call to the church at Liberty, in Woods county, her state. For some time she has been under the tutelage of Mrs. William M. Jenkins, wife of Oklahoma's ex-governor, and herself a Quaker minister.

Rev. Dr. Hubbard, pastor of the Bedford Heights Baptist church, Brooklyn, has jarred the young people of his church into his way of thinking by putting his pastoral foot down heavily. These young people of both sexes planned a benefit dance for the raising of funds for a church organ. Dr. Hubbard suggested some other form of entertainment. The projectors ignored the hint and went ahead. Then the doctor said: "No, you shall not dance anywhere in the official name of this church." All the old people of the church backed him up and the dance has been called off.

Pope Pius is giving constant reminders of the fact that he intends to be master in his own house, even though by doing so he upsets precedent. The other day he announced that he intended to have his sisters to lunch with him in the Vatican. An attending dignitary pointed out in guarded language that such a thing had not occurred in the annals of the papacy since the change in regime of the Italian government. His holiness replied that in the past he had always entertained whom he pleased in his own apartments, and he saw no reason to change his habits. Accordingly his sisters lunched with him at the time set.

FACTORY AND WORKSHOP.

The most powerful automobile ever built is the Gobron-Brihe racing car, having 120 horse power.

An adequate conception of the importance of the silk business of this country can be formed from the estimates made by experts, that when the raw material has been manufactured it will represent a total value of $130,000,000.

Brith's Engineering company, London, have got possession of an automatic stoker as a specialty, and as it is certain to come largely into use, it will effect that great improvement in smoke consumption and fuel economy, which has been so long desired.

The Figaro, Paris, says that in 1870 the United States met only a small part of its own demand for silks—about 12 or 13 per cent.—buying 87 per cent. abroad; to-day it produces 85 per cent. at home and buys 15 per cent. in foreign ports. Paterson, N. J., will have fully 45,000 looms in operation by the end of 1903.

It is reported that of the 80 or more beet and cane sugar factories of Spain, all except two or three have just been merged in a sugar trust. The former finance minister, Lopez Pulgervier, has been elected chairman of the board of directors. The beet sugar industry of Spain, although comparatively young, is already far more important than the cane sugar industry. The two together produce almost 100,000 metric tons annually, some of which is exported.

INDUSTRIAL CHIT-CHAT.

"How are you feeling?" inquired a friend of Senator Morgan, of Alabama, who is now in his eightieth year and can still make as long a speech in the senate as any other senator. "In the words of the small boy," answered Senator Morgan, "I am feeling so well that I would have to send for the doctor if I felt any better."

Senators Scott, Tillman, Dolliver and Foster stood in a corner of the senate chamber telling stories. Frequent bursts of laughter arose and President Pro Tem. Frye looked over in their direction once or twice. Observing this, Senator Scott stepped to the desk line and said innocently: "Mr. President, are we disturbing the senate?" "Oh, no-o-o," said Mr. Frye, with marked sarcasm. "All right," replied Senator Scott, turning to the group. "As I was saying," he began. But just then Mr. Frye rapped smartly for order and the quartet of story tellers separated.

Alphabetically considered the following list of "eligibles" in the matrimonial line are in the senatorial circle: "Allison, of Iowa; Beveridge, of Indiana; Clark, of Montana; Cockrell, of Missouri; Dietrich, of Nebraska; Dillingham, of Vermont; Frye, of Maine; Millard, of Nebraska; Mitchell, of Oregon; Patterson, of Colorado; Pettus, of Alabama; Warren, of Wyoming. The foregoing are widowers. The bachelors are Kean, of New Jersey; Penrose, of Pennsylvania, and Kittridge, of South Dakota.

IN PEACE AND WAR.

The total expenditure for the navy for the next fiscal year is $102,866,443. The men who presented themselves for examination as recruits in the army during the last fiscal year showed a high average of physical excellence. The candidates examined numbered 45,218, of whom 30,176, or almost exactly two-thirds, were accepted. Of 42,183 white men, 27,790 were accepted, and of 3,025 colored men, 2,386 were accepted.

Each crew of a naval vessel consists of seven men besides the captain of the turret, who has general charge. There are two guns in each turret, so that when in action there are in a turret 15 men. At each gun there is a pointer, a trainer, a sight setter, a rammer man, a hoist man, a breech lock man and a loader. Each has his station, and the seven men practically become part of the gun, working together like a machine.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS.

"The Henderson Route"—Always First

The traveling public will be pleased to learn of the latest innovation in the way of comfort in travel for its patrons which is now being offered by that most popular railroad, the "Henderson Route," which road has been rightly termed the "Kentuckian's Official Route to the West and Southwest."

It has just been announced from the general office of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Railway that they now have in service on their night trains between Louisville and St. Louis, Free Reclining Chair Cars, which have just been received from the shops and are a revelation in the car builder's art.

The cars are strictly up-to-date, first-class "palaces of travel" on wheels, and this is only one of the many surprises which are promised the public for the World's Fair travel by the Henderson Route.

Among other advantages offered in these highly finished cars, a few of the most important points only are mentioned:

They are solidly vestibuled and are furnished with sixty-four reclining chairs, which are upholstered in beautiful green plush, in addition to smoking and toilet rooms, the smoking rooms being finished throughout in leather. They are also fitted up with triple trucks, which feature will do away with the jerk, jar and strain incident to travel in the ordinary railway coach, and insures a smooth, comfortable ride. This should prove more than a popular feature in train service to the traveling public, and you can only suggest that in traveling you "get the Henderson Route" habit.

FRENCH LICK

WEST BADEN SPRINGS.

In the highlands of Indiana—a two hours ride from Louisville there flow wonderful healing waters, that you'd spend hundreds of dollars to enjoy if they were in Europe.

A recent visitor from Philadelphia, who formerly went to Carlsbad every year, said: "I do not see why anyone goes to Europe for medicinal waters. The water is as beneficial, and the scenery and surrounding country, the air and the opportunities for recreation are better; the hotels and accommodations are much finer at French Lick-West Baden Springs"—and this gentleman is a native of Switzerland.

The splendidly wooded hills with the cool, invigorating air of these highlands where one can enjoy rambles in the depths of the forest, or rides and drives among the numerous bridle paths and roadways, afford pleasure for those who desire rest and quiet; while at the splendid and casinos one can have all the entertainment and social pleasures possible at the most fashionable resorts.
